Will Brad Call Michael 'Dad'?

HOLLYWOOD is buzzing that Brad Pitt wants to team up with Michael Douglas in a sequel to the 1987 hit Wall Street. With Douglas and director Oliver Stone rumored to be high on the project, a source tells Star People that "Brad wants to play the part of Michael Douglas' son in the sequel." The source, who overheard Brad talking to one of his reps, added that Brad "said he's already asked Oliver Stone to direct and that Oliver's really interested."

All Brad needs is a trim and a little gel to get a resemblance to a 1980s Michael Douglas.

Love Bug Rolls Lindsay

TEEN queen Lindsay Lohan found the friendly looking Love Bug in Herbie: Fully Loaded to be a rough co-star. She told the Associated Press that after being hit by the VW Beetle's door while shooting a scene, "I felt the car rolling and not stopping." Although it ran over her foot, lucky Lindsay wasn't hurt. ★
