

I'll have what she's having booty parlor's vibrating panties

Looking to shake things up both in and outside the bedroom? Then you need to cop a pair of Turn Me On Vibrating Panties. That's right: Booty Parlor has created a line of lace, bikini-style draws that contain a vibrating, seven-function "bullet." Controlled via wireless remote from a distance of up to 20 feet, they're perfect for adventurous couples - whether worn to bed or breakfast. So skip the game of footsie, and get down to business with some next level PDA action.

www.bootyparlor.com

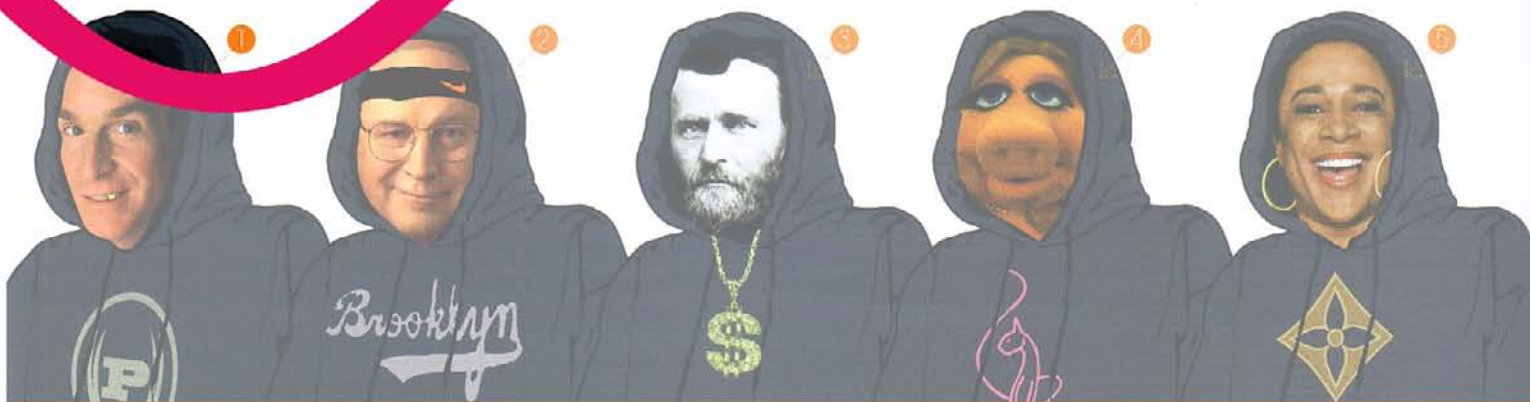

round 2

celebrity death match returns on MTV2 Look out for those crazy clay figures inflicting pain upon each other in the new season of Celebrity Death Match. The classic is back with a vengeance, with all-new match-ups sure to excite, like Paris Hilton v. Nicole and Bam v. Don Vito. Celebrity Death Match will be splattering clay all over the ring and your TV screen beginning in May on MTV2.

whoever smelt it, dealt it deciphering the 'new car smell'

 We hate to be the bearers of bad news, but a report from The Ecology Center says to indicate that the so-called 'new car smell' everyone loves inhale may actually be detrimental to your health. Apparently, that sweet, synthetic, industrial-rubber smell is produced by harmful organic compounds (VOC's and phthalates) that can affect the lungs and kidneys, and can even cause serious birth defects with prolonged exposure. So the next time you cop a new H2 Humvee or an all-black Dodge Charger, it might be advisable to rock a SARS-style facemask. Yes, those evil new car fumes are completely gone. Hey, you can't do that the good old-fashioned way - due to excessive drinking and smoking.

born-again thugs

A handful of our favorite celebrities have decided to flip their style...watch out fitty.